A Life Worthy of Our Calling

Paul wrote: "As a prisoner for the Lord, then, I urge you to live a life worthy of the calling you have received" (Eph. 4:1). The etymological meaning of the Greek word "worthy" is: "to have the same weight or the same value." In this context, the idea conveyed is that we should live our lives in such a way that it reflects and has the same weight or value as our "calling." Our calling makes us worthy and therefore we need to live a life worthy of the calling.

As for our calling, Paul is referring to the time when a person hears, believes, accepts the Gospel of Jesus Christ, and is baptized. In 2 Thessalonians 2:14, Paul wrote: "He called you to this through our gospel, that you might share in the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ." This is the Gospel call; that through Jesus Christ's incarnation, His death, and His resurrection we can be made right with our Creator. This call is much more than just receiving forgiveness from God and being saved. It must also include submitting and following Jesus as the Lord and Master of our life. In order to live a worthy life before God, we need to live an obedient life and actually be doing things for the Lord and be active in His church.

Paul was "a prisoner for the Lord" and wrote the Ephesian letter from a Roman prison. He served the Lord anywhere the Spirit led him, even in prison. In the same way, wherever we are and whatever we do, we should do everything for the Lord, because of the calling we have received. Here is a list of four other Bible passages that express how we can live a life worthy of the Gospel call:

1. We should "...speak boldly for the Lord" (Acts 14:3).
2. We should "...live a life worthy of the Lord" (Col. 1:10).
3. We should accept that our body is "...for the Lord,..." (1 Cor. 6:13).
4. We should "...live lives worthy of God,..." (1 Thess. 2:12).

In order to live a life worthy of our calling, we need to actually be doing things for our Lord. Paul also wrote: "Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord, not for men" (Col. 3:23). Let us live a worthy life that will bring honor and glory to the Lord who has called us to be in His church.

A Parting Encouragement

Courage to Share — Paying It Forward

In a few weeks Dan Cooper will join us for three days of classes to teach us how to more effectively share the Gospel. I sincerely hope and encourage all of us to put it on our calendars and make every effort to come. This is important for all of us, because it is a charge that belongs to every Christian, not just the preacher.

The problem for many of us is that, more often than not, there is a cost for sharing the Gospel. That cost can come in the form of people avoiding us, ugly names, social exclusion, angry defensiveness, hostility, and misconstrued motivations (“don’t judge me!”). It can be painful. So, we zip our lips, and hope someone else will come along, who will share the Gospel with our neighbor, our friend, our spouse, or colleague.

But “...God has not given us a spirit of timidity, but of power and love and discipline” (2 Timothy 1:7). There are good, urgent, and important reasons for you (yes, you) to share the Gospel. This will, Lord willing, be the first of a series of bulletin articles to encourage us to share the greatest message the world will ever hear, the “power unto salvation” (Romans 1:16), the “good news”, the Gospel.

Let’s start with the fact that since someone once told you, you need to pay it forward.

Have you ever wondered where you might be, what terrible thing you might have become, how different your life might have been were it not for the Gospel? And it doesn’t really take much imagination, does it? You know the trajectory your life was on, and you know those who’ve walked those paths and where they lead. Aren’t you glad the Lord came into your life, rescuing you not only from the spiritual consequences of sin, but from the life of sin? How great is it to have a clean conscience, to know real love, to have a confident hope, an eternal home, to have guidance and meaning in your life, and to serve a God who listens and cares? Aren’t you eternally grateful to the Father who actively sought to save you and Jesus who paid such a supremely high cost to make it possible? Aren’t you profoundly grateful that someone took a chance, took courage, and shared Jesus, the Bible, and the plan of salvation with you? You really “owe them one”, don’t you?

Well, here’s how you say thanks, how you repay it — pay it forward. It’s your turn to take a chance, take courage, and share. Not everyone will listen, of course. Not everyone listened to the friend who shared Jesus with you either, but they kept sharing...until they came to you.

“Yeah, but they were so much more knowledgeable than I am.”

“Yeah, but they were so much braver than I am.”

No, not as much as you might think. About the knowledge part: Do you know your own story of conversion? The whys? The hows? Then, you know enough to share that. And about the brave part: They were probably just about as nervous about sharing as you are; they just overcame it by love for the Lord (2 Cor. 5:14) and a love for your soul.

There’s an old hymn that puts it well...

When in the better land
Before the bar we stand,
How deeply grieved our souls will be;
If any lost one there should cry in deep despair,
“You never mentioned Him to me.”

Be compassionate, be brave, and pay the Gospel forward.

Park Linscomb
